MISS CALL'S ADVENTURE IN THE RAM-APO MOUNTAINS.

She Was Waylaid, Ongged, and Bound by Two of a Gang of Vagrants Camped in the Neighborhood-A Tramp Hant in the Hills Almost Followed by a Lynching. SUPPERS, N. Y. Oct. 21.-This village has just narrowly escaped a lynching, and for the reason that the principal constituent was not forthcoming. A telegraph pole had been se-lected, and for six hours | ast night a gang of fifty men scoured the country in search of two delinquents who were badly wanted. For weeks past the neighborhood has been overrun with tramps of an advanced stage of wickedness, who have stolen from the farmers, stopped men in the highways to demand money, and terrorized women and children.

Theestramps have established camps in the adjacent hills, and make daily and nightly descents upon the villages of the Ramapo Valley. Two of the camps lie on the two miles stretch of road between Suffern and Ramapo. and each has been for a month the home of a score or more uncouth and uncombed No one cares to pass along that road after dark. But the excitement that was the precursor of last night's uprising was called forth by an offence more flagrant than anything of which the tramps have been guilty heretofore.

Miss Lucetta Call, who lives in the hamlet of Ramapo with her aged father, two sisters, and two brothers, started yesterday afternoon for this village to pay some bills that she owed to various tradesmen. She carried a small cov-ored basket and a satchel, in which she placed her purse. The money to pay the bills, however, she had taken care to pin into the breast of her jacket, and there was nothing in the purse but the tradesmen's bills. She had walked about a mile, when, crossing the bridge over the Ramane River, she descried ahead two tramps. They waited for her, and when she came up stood on one either side of the road. 'Is this the read to Port Jervis?" asked one

Miss Call answered that it was.

Well, we'd like to have some money to get there," said the other. Miss Cail protested that she had no money, but one of the tramps grabbed her by the arms and the other seized the satchel. Then Miss Cail seconmed, but there was no one near shough to hear. Then she struggled, one man struck her with his flat between the shoulder bialos, and togather they dragged her into the bushes at the side of the road. They selected a clump of elms, five trees growing from the same roots, and prepared to the her. One putiled from his pecket a ridee of clothes line, and this they wound about her body and syms. They then took from her two bandkerchiefs and made a gag, which they forced into her mouth. In two minutes she was bound hand and foot tight to the tree. Having fastened her securely, the tramps rifled the purse, the satchel, and the basket, but found nothing. They looked at her a moment and backed away.

"Ta, it, ais," said one, "We wish you better luck than we've had."

The place where they loft Miss Call tied is got thirty feet from the road, but it is partly bidder by the underbrush. Within the next tait hour several extrigges passed by, but her voice, muffled by the gag, was so faint that she could not make herself heard, and it was nearly two hours before relief came. Walter Jackson, John Nugent, and Joseph McToskie, three young men omployed at the Ramapo Iron Works, passed by on their way home from work, and were attracted by the noises he made. When they released her she was speechless and unable to stand.

The news that was brought down to the village shortly afterward stirred up a crowd that included every sub-bodded man in the vicinity. Under the leadership of Constable Myers £. Paylor, a search party was at once organized and armed, and a start was made for the places where the tramps were known to congregate. This was about 5 o'clock, and the Bay Barracks, was found deserted; but at another place, on a hillside overlooking the Rumpo River, a group of half a dozen were seen about a lire, onlying a late suppor composate of their day's hall of chickens and other delicacies. Miss Call protested that she had no money. but one of the tramps grabbed her by the arms and the other seized the satchel. Then Miss

WILLIAMS IS A BANK SWINDLER. He Got 8600 in This City on the Strength of His Pleasing Manner,

The man calling himself Dr. Williams, who was arrested at the Hotel Kenmore in Albany on Friday on suspicion that he was the E. C. Williams wanted by the police of this city for grand largeny, has proved to be the right one. The complainant against Williams is W. B. T. Keyser, cashier of the Bank of the Republic.

About Oct. 1 a fine-looking man with gray hair and moustache called at the bank and announced that he wanted to open an account there. He said he was Gen. E. C. Williams of Washington. He appeared to be a man of wealth and refinement, and showed such famillarity with prominent persons in Washington that the bank officials were glad to open an account with him. As a be-

Then word came from Washington that the draft was a forgery. Search was made for Gen. Williams, but he had disappeared. Cashier Reyser then notified Inspector McLaughin, and the latter sent out circulars to every city in the country giving a description of the swindier and asking that he he arrested. It was through one of these circulars that the Albary police found Williams. He had been living at the hotel for two weeks with his wife, who is ill. When Inspector McLaughlin was notified of the arrest a warrant was procured at the Tombs Folice Court, and on Friday night Detective Sergeant Sheldon went to Albary for the prisoner.

Testerday the Inspector received a telegram from Sheldon saying that the right person had been arrested. Williams was brought to this city last night, and will be arraigned in the Tombs Court this morning. The police here know nothing of Williams's career previous to his visit to the Bank of the Republic.

Jumped Into a Buggy, Pulled a Boy Off a Bicycle, and Bit People.

BED BANK, Oct. 21.-Early last evening, while t was still light, Leon Longstreet of Oceanic was on his way home driving a single horse to a buggy. He had just crossed Throckmorton's bridge, on East Front street, when he heard a dog barking behind. The dog came in eight, and, as soon as he was near enough, jumped into the buggy, all the while growling and barking. He was a long-haired dog of the setter breed. Mr. Longstreet grabbed his whip and tried to use the butt end on the dog. Finally he managed to push the animal out and drove away rapidly. and drove away rapidly. The dog had made no effort to bite him, seeming more crazy than rabid.

The dog did not pursue Mr. Longstreet. Haif way to Fair Haven the dog met Cornell Minton on a safety bleyele. The boy is a son of James Minton and is 12 years old. He was on his way to his home near Fair Haven. The dog grabbed the boy by a leg of his trousers and nutled him off the wheel, and then turged away for a time. Leaving young Minton to get himself together, the dog ran after another buggy in the distance. Richard Doughty was in the buggy and the dog jumned in with him, Mr. Doughty succeeded in getting the dog out and tried to hit him with his whip. The dog caught the lash and held it, running beside the buggy. It was with difficulty that Mr. Doughty got his whip free.

Next the dog ran toward Fair Haven and attacked a colored girl named Brown, daughter of Jacob Brown of Fair Haven. The dog jumped at her and bit her on the breast, besides knocking her down. Leaving the girl, he ran on down the road till he met Mrs. George B. Sarder, who was with her son. The dog got hold of Mrs. Snyder's dress and tore it before the boy drove him off. Running through Fair Haven the dog met a Frenchman, who has been working as a carpenter on the new buildings on Mr. Hoagland's property near the Ridge road. The Frenchman put out his hand to ward the dog off. The dog grabbed the man was baily frightened and tumbled down. Fearing that the dog would get at his throat, he edged away as best he could, finally getting his head and body in the branks.

It was getting dark, and no more was seen or heard of the animal. The Frenchman went to Dr. Walter S. Whitmore of Oceanic. N. J. and had the wounds on his hand cauterized. Parties have been looking for the dog since early this morning.

SOUTH CAROLINA'S LIQUOR LAW. The United States Court Practically Assista

CHARLESTON, S. C., Oct. 21 .- Some time ago the whiskey constabulary discovered seven barrels of beer in the South Carolina Railway station here. They were shipped from Augusta, Ga., over the South Carolina Railway to Charleston by bills of lading. The consignees of the packages are known to be residents of Charleston. Upon learning of the shipp the constabulary, instead of selzing the goods, applied to Judge Simonton of the United States Court for leave to seize them. The South Caro lina Bailway was in the hands of a receiver, and one of the constables had already been and one of the constables had already been imprisoned for seizing goods in transit without first applying to the court. The following order was signed by the court. The following order was signed by the court:

"It is ordered that the receiver of the South Carolina Bailway Company, or his authorized agent do give notice to the consignees of said neckages respectively that they are ready for delivery, and that they will be delivered to such consignee on the 24th day of October, 1853, and that the said receiver, or his said agent, give notice to the said chief constable of the time and thace of said chief constable of the time and thace of said chiery, and that such delivery take place in the presence of said chief constable, and not otherwise. The marks of said packages are as follows: Five marks of said packages are as follows: Five (5) barrels. W. B. Ryan, consigned to W. B. Ryan; two (2) barrels (y), consigned to W. B. Ryan; two (2) barrels (y), consigned to J. J. Conway."

The constabulary captured two packages of beer on the Clyde Steamship Company's wharf to-day. One was a barrel marked "T. H. F. Riceniz, mineral water". The other was a box consigned to Margaret Sellian and marked "Hardware." Both contained export beer in bottles.

Philipp Sues Brunner for Slander,

Adolph Philipp, manager of the Germania Theatre on Eighth street, and author of "The Corner Grocery" and other plays, has begun suit in the City Court, through Lawyer Julius Lehman, to recover $2,000 damages trom Ermano Brunner, a real estate dealer of 16 Ex-change place, for alleged slander.

Manager Philipp says that on the night of Oct. 4 hast Brunner, who is said to have an income of $55,000 a year and to be quite a swell in German quarters, came to the Germania Theatre, and in the presence of many people and in a loud voice said, referring to Manager Philipp:

"You are a forger. You forged my check, and I will bring you to States brison for five years if it costs me $10,000."

Mr. Philipp says that Brunner followed him into the cate adjoining the theatre and again made use of the words. He declares that Brunner was arrested at the time by a policeman because of the crowd he had drawn, but was soon discharged.

One of Mr. Sanford's Appointers Resigns. Alfred Nelson, President of the Long Island City Board of Education, has resigned. In his letter to Mayor Horatio S. Sanford Mr. Nelson says his time is too much taken up by his private affairs to permit his giving his official lusiness proper attention. It is thought that criticism of Mr. Nelson's official acts in the local press is the true cause of his resigning.
